Cox's Manager III

No definite announcement has yet been made relative to the place of holding the formal notification meeting. It will be either at Columbus or Dayton, with chances favoring Dayton.

The Governor this afternoon received a telegram from San Francisco from Wilbur Marsh, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, stating that E. H. Moore, of Youngstown, Ohio, Governor Cox's pre-convention manager, was seriously ill in a hospital there from a nervous reaction.

The message stated that he was under a nurse's care and that no one was permitted to see him. It added, however, there was no occasion for alarm. The Governor immediately sent a message of sympathy expressing the hope that his manager would be able to be out soon.

At the de Cordova home, 251 West Eighty-minth Street, it was learned that the family, consisting of husbard, wife and two children, had lived there for nine years. On July 1 the last three went to New London to spend the summer and Mr. de Cordova has been spending his week-ends there since then. He was not at his home last night and, the door attendant said, had not been in.

voiced in a declaration sent to the Committee of Forty-eight announcing that unless the leaders of the third party movement would compromise on the demands of the Laborites, they would go ahead independently to-morrow with their party organization and would withhold their support from the united party.

Hope was still held out, however, that a basis of agreement would be reached soon and that the union would be effected to-morrow.

Amalgamation Probable

Arthur A. Hayes, chairman of the joint committee on amalgamation, announced that a tacit agreement had been reached which made the amalgamation of these groups a certainty. He said it was no longer a question of whether the small groups would join in a third party, but one of how the union would be effected.

Confidence that the groups will get together for a united campaign in an effort to break the beld of the laborites and alienists took part in the proceedings. The costs will fall on Howard Croker.

John T. G. Crawford, of Jacksonville, Democratic national committeeman from Florida and counsel for Howard Croker, declared this afternoon that appeal would be made to the Supreme Court of the state. A motion of appeal was forwarded to Judge Donnell.

The court in its decision said:

"The first question is: Is Richard Croker sr. too enfeebled in mind to manage his own affairs? The next question of his property?

"Under the evidence as applied to the law controlling, both of these questions must be answered in the negative. The manner and demeanor of Richard Croker sr. in the court and on the witness stand clearly suggest a man in full control of his faculties. His memory is no doubt impaired, yet he remembered dates and transactions rather accurately.

"Under the evidence as applied to the law controlling, both of these questions must be answered in the records and counts of his project. The court in its decision said:

Senator Harding had important conferences to-day with his close friend, Senator Albert B. Cummins, of Iowa; Raymond Robins, of Illinois, stanch supporter of Senator Hiram Johnson, and John R. Rathom, publisher of "The Providence Journal."

In his application for a temporary restraining order preventing his father from giving away further possession to his second wife, Howard Croker asserted that the senior Croker had been unduly influenced by his wife and that the latter was, by her cunning, obtaining possession of his vast holdings in the United States and Ireland.

For many years the senior Croker has been passing his winters at Palm Beach and it was while there this year that the suit was filed.

The opinion of Judge Donnell comes after one of the longest cases of its kind ever heard in a Florida court. Many lawyers and alienists took part in the proceedings. The costs will fall on Howard Croker petent to handle his own affairs in s

They were said to be ready to make a fusion agreement for this year's Presidential campaign, unite on La Follette as the find join with the 48ers on a common statement of principles.

The 48ers, including Representatives of the Wisconsin Senator, were reported to be dissatisfied with a mere fusion agreement.

The La Follette ambitions, according to those who have conferred with him, are said to include the formation of a permanent third party, with public womership of the railroads, coal, oil and other chief natural resources and public utilities as the paramount domestic issue.

"There is a great deal of evidence as well as the charge of mental weakness. No sufficient proof of fraud was offered. Richard Croker sr, has disposed of much of the property to his children. But if this is his choice and he is competent to manage his affairs, it certainly cannot be stopped in a court of equity. The right of a property owner to make his own disposition of his holdings is jealously guarded by our law.

There is much speculation here today as to what material assistance the Allies could lend the Poles in the event that the Bolsheviki refuse to grant an armistice. None of the Allied govern-ments is prepared to send any con-siderable force of troops to the battle-front, although the French already have close to a 1,000 officers in Poland,

Participation by Allies

As the economic development of the next thirty years cannot be foretoid, the statement asserted, a plan must be worked out by which Allied governments would participate in the improvement of financial and economic conditions in Germany.

Experts from Allied nations and Germany should meet as soon as possible, the statement said, to fix the amounts of the annuities to be paid and to pass on the securities to be demanded. Germany's sovereignty in financial matters must not be infringed upon in decisions regarding this feature of adjusting reparation payments. These experts should also fix the maximum sum to the Allies by Germany.

Across the barbed wire fence was the chauffeur, still breathing, but evidently fatally wounded. Between the two was an army pistol.
